

A BROADENING OF MISSION
The Development of a Technological University

A Background Paper
for the Middle States Association
Case Study

March 19-22, 1972

Newark College of Engineering
Newark, New Jersey

ROBERT W. VAN HOUTEN LIBRARY
NEW JERSEY INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The preparation of this background paper is the concerted effort of many faculty, students, and administrators. The Middle States Steering Committee appointed four Task Forces to prepare various sections of the paper. Two open meetings on the content of the paper were held for students and faculty early in its preparation. The separate sections and the assembled paper were reviewed by the Task Forces, the Steering Committee, and others before the final version was prepared.

The following members of the NCE Community have been involved in the development of the background paper.

Peter Adreini

L. Bryce Andersen

Dodie Barrington

Richard D. Blanchard

Harold Deutschman

Richard S. Douglas

Robert Dresnack

Charles Forman

Achilles E. Foster

Phyllis Fox

William Hazell

Roy B. Helfgott

Neil D. Holtzman

Joseph House

Clarence S. Johnson

David S. Kristol

Murray Lieb

James L. Lubin

Robert E. McMillan

Richard C. Progelhof

Eivind G. F. Ramberg

James L. Rigassio

Ronald Ruel

William Savin

Rod Schaffer

Jeffrey W. Schram

Eugene H. Smithberg

Abraham H. Steinberg

Melvin W. Thompson

Stanley B. Winters

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
I. Newark College of Engineering - An Overview	1
A. The College and the City	1
B. The Student Body	2
C. The Faculty	3
D. Educational Programs	4
E. A Technological University	5
II. Diversification of Academic Programs	7
A. Undergraduate Programs	8
B. Graduate Programs	10
1. The Masters Degree	10
2. The Doctorate	12
3. The Professional Degree	13
4. Future Developments	13
C. Specific Illustrations	14
1. Evolution of the Social Sciences	14
a. Early Patterns	15
b. Changes in Response to a Changing Environment	16
c. Progress, Promise and Problems	17
2. The Computer Science Department	18
a. Initial Interest in Computers	18
b. Establishment of a Computer Science Department	20
c. The Department at Present	21
d. Future Developments	22
3. The Bachelor of Technology Degree	22
a. The Role of the Technologist	23
b. Development of the Proposal	24
c. The Approved Program	25

	Page
III. The Newark College Complex	27
A. Introductory Remarks	27
B. Identification of the Institutions Involved	28
C. The Climate for Cooperation	30
D. The Situation in Newark	31
E. The Development of CHEN to Date	33
F. Real Accomplishments Thus Far	35
G. The Future	36
H. Student Pathways	38
I. Faculty and Program Pathways	39
J. Pathways to Facilities	41
K. A Few Last Words	42
IV. Service to the City, the Region and the State	45
A. Introduction	45
B. Service to the Region and the State	46
1. A Resource for Industry	46
2. Serving the Profession	47
3. The Research Foundation	48
4. The Center for Urban and Environmental Engineering	49
5. Public Service Internships	50
C. Service to the City	51
1. 1967, a Turning Point	51
2. A Commitment to Service	52
3. The Engineering Opportunity Program	52
4. Further Service to Minorities	54
5. Service to the Local Community	55
D. An Ongoing Commitment	57

	Page
V. Planning and Decision-Making	58
A. Planning for the Future	58
B. The Decision-Making Structure	58
1. The Executive Committee	58
2. The Committee on Curriculum	59
3. The Faculty Council	59
4. The Professional Staff Association	59
5. The Student Senate and Other Bodies	60
C. Planning of Academic Programs	60
D. Academic Personnel Decisions	61
E. Student Involvement in Decision-Making	63
F. College Governance in the Future	65
G. Long-Range Planning	66
H. The State System	67
I. NCE's Role in the State System	70