Course Description

Welcome to International Business MGMT 391-451, 453 for Fall 2024. This is an advanced-level undergraduate course designed primarily for juniors and seniors who have taken the basic classes in economics and business.

This course introduces students to the international aspects of various business concepts such as strategy, marketing, importing and exporting, the monetary system, and global supply chain management, all in an integrated manner.

MTSM Course Catalog Description

MGMT 391. International Business. 3 credits, 3 contact hours (3;0;0).

Prerequisites: FIN 315 and (MGMT 190 or MGMT 390 or HRM 301) and ECON 266 or ECON 201. This course provides the framework for understanding international business and trade and focuses on the core concepts and techniques for entering the international marketplace. The course emphasizes the effect of social, cultural, economic, technological, political, and legal environments on foreign trade and managerial decision-making. A variety of topics will illustrate the impact of international business on our daily lives such as the patterns of world trade, currency exchange, the international monetary system, international marketing, international management, and the operating procedures of the multinational enterprise.

Case studies are essential to this course. Your case study presentations must be well-researched and thoroughly written. Case studies place students in the role of business or organizational leaders who are facing challenges in an international scope and thus must evaluate different approaches to successfully address these challenges. The cases are matched with weekly course concepts and the content provided in textbook chapters and assigned materials. Students will be organized into teams, for the duration of the semester, to work together to analyze issues, conduct research, synthesize all of this, and then create integrated presentations which will be recorded and posted in the designated assignments. As in a real-world business environment, teams will be graded for the cohesiveness, logic, insights, additional research and support, persuasiveness, and clarity with which recommendations and actions are constructed.

Teamwork for case study presentations and thoughtful, original, and thorough contributions in assigned discussions are essential elements of this course. International business endeavors succeed or fail based on whether camaraderie, exchange of ideas, and meaningful relationships are established and converted to productive business outcomes. Such is the case in this course. Each student is responsible for their individual contributions in discussions as well as for the performance of their team as a whole.

We will consider and read about many types of firms and organizations around the world, including large companies in the United States, Europe, China, Japan, and India. The inclusion of current disputes, controversies, policies among these countries, affecting global markets, trade, and investment will add to the significance of this approach. We will also consider the impact of COVID-19, recent political and trade climates, including supply chain challenges and other issues, as they affect the management of international business.

Learning Goals and Outcomes

MGMT 391 International Business Learning Goals and Outcomes
Learning Goal 1.0	Express Analytical and Problem-Solving Skills
Learning Outcome 1.1	Demonstrate knowledge of course international business concepts: become able to apply these concepts to solve business problems in an international context.
Learning Outcome 1.2	Use quantitative and qualitative research as tools to help understand and explain business problems in a constantly changing global environment.
Learning Goal 2.0	Employ Information and Communication Skills
Learning Outcome	Compose clear and concise case study presentations, summaries, implications, recommendations and support, comments in discussions, and answers to problems or questions posed by fellow students.
Learning Goal 3.0	Develop Interpersonal Skills and Manage Discussion Dynamics
Learning Outcome	Show the ability to manage and work in teams and as a case presenter. Analyze colleagues’ points in discussion and present constructive and unique, illustrative opinions.
Learning Goal 4.0	Recognize Ethical Reasoning
Learning Outcome	Describe moral implications and ethical issues and be able to apply these to individual and organizational decisions and actions, globally.
Learning Goal 5.0	Apply Technology Skills
Learning Outcome	Apply technology skills and techniques for effective communication in concise, business style in both case study presentations and discussion comments.
Learning Goal 6.0	Describe and Illustrate Globalization in Practice
Learning Outcome	Discuss examples of the global context in which business is done, citing or referring to course content. Evaluate benefits and challenges of global business strategy or growth initiatives based on cases reviewed.

In addition to what is delineated within this syllabus, I may add content periodically from current events or what I deem to be important points of view and historical perspectives. This content is meant to enhance readings in the textbook and class discussions related to the case study presentations. Students are encouraged to add references from their own reading to these discussions and presentations. The content I add is required material and will be, in all likelihood, included in quizzes and exams.

Course Website

Please go to CANVAS. The Canvas site is where most course materials are posted. Make sure you have an NJIT UCID and password so that you can access Canvas. I will use Canvas to post announcements and supplemental materials throughout the semester. So, please be sure to check the site (canvas.njit.edu) frequently. Please contact helpdesk (973-596-2900) for problems associated with Canvas.

Assignments

Case Studies

Case studies are an essential part of this course. They are used as a form of role play, reflecting a business scenario in which student teams will present recommendations and substantiation to a figurative senior-level executive, executive team, or board of directors. This format is designed to organize teams so that they collaborate creatively while illustrating their ability to apply course concepts, create convincing arguments backed by data, all in a concise form, within short timeframes.

There will be eight case studies, divided into two rounds of four. Two teams will be assigned to prepare presentations for each case study. At times the two teams will be asked to present opposing views. By the end of the semester, each team will have completed two case studies.

The class will be randomly and automatically divided (by Canvas) into eight teams. Members may not switch teams once assigned.

This format is designed to organize and assess students on their ability to work as part of a team, involve all other members, and collaborate to produce creative, accurate, factual, professional-looking, business-level, finished presentations.

To add emphasis: Teams are required to illustrate in these presentations their ability to apply course concepts within their work. In addition, teams must create convincing arguments backed by research and data, in concise form, within short timeframes.

You must also follow the format provided and reflect the requirements for each format section. These presentations must be fully integrated across each section and flow logically from beginning to end. Your grade for each case will reflect your achievement of the above criteria.

Points will be deducted if it is evident that sections have been placed together from individual contributors without regard to how the finished presentation in its entirety works as a complete document.

Additionally, each team member is equally responsible for checking for proper grammar, spelling, and source citations. Points will be deducted for spelling and grammar errors and improper citations.

Sources must be cited on each page in which they are used. In addition, include all of your sources listed at the end of your presentation. You are expected to conduct your own research well beyond the case study information provided.

Each team is also expected to respond to students' questions and participate in discussions. Please note that team responses in discussions are required – just as if you were asked a question in a live Q&A session after a presentation. Points will be deducted if you do not participate. See more on this in the discussion section, below.

Research, images, charts, graphs, and other data used without citation will be considered a breach of academic integrity standards, as described here, and will be reflected in your grade, with other serious, subsequent administrative actions to be considered.

Your grade for each case study presentation will reflect your achievement of the above criteria.

The cases require students to examine diverse situations across a variety of firms by industry, size, and geography, with a variety of possible outcomes in terms of business success. Students will see that making business decisions in different cultural and national environments is challenging, and these decisions will frequently have different effects, depending on the political, economic and competitive context.

The approach for analyzing and presenting case studies will follow a prescribed business presentation format, one that is typically used to present to senior-level executive teams. This format is mandatory. The detailed requirements and structure for each section are included at the end of this syllabus.

The added benefit in learning this approach is to prepare you for an actual, professional, business environment.

Each Case Study Presentation team must post a recording of their case as an easily accessible presentation, BOTH in the Case Study Presentation assignment AND in your team's Discussion section, within Canvas. Your presentation must contain at minimum a recorded voiceover.

The Case Study Presentation assignment must be posted by Sunday at 11:59 PM -- the day before the case becomes available for class discussion. The presentation must ALSO be posted in the Discussion section assigned, as early as reasonably possible and no later than 10:00 AM, on that Monday morning that the discussion is opened (beginning on Monday at 12:00 AM).

You will be graded based on the mandatory format, plus the criteria listed above, the posting requirements, the relevance and specificity of your recommendations, the support you provide for them, and important, how effectively you integrate the course concepts within your presentation.

Class Discussion

Students are required to post in Canvas their responses to each team's case presentations, in the appropriate, assigned discussion forums. Discussion participation is mandatory. That is, each student must comment on each of the two case presentations, one by each team, for each Case Study presentation week.

Discussion for each week is worth 4 points: 2 points each for two team presentations. You will receive zero points if you do not post a comment; there is no opportunity for makeups. No comments are accepted past the due date.

You will be excused from posting discussion comments the week of your Case Study presentation ( for those 2 weeks out of 8 weeks total). In other words, you are responsible for posting comments for six cases, two discussions per case.

As noted above, case study presentation teams must actively engage and respond to questions from fellow students, when asked, during the course of the discussion. Points may be deducted retroactively if the team does not engage in the discussion during the week of your case study presentation.

In summary, each Class Discussion throughout the semester is worth 4 points each (2 points each for comments on the two team presentations) for six out of the eight cases. This is a grand total of 24 points, or 24% of your grade (4 points x 6 cases=24 points).

So, clearly, it is important that you participate and provide comments of high quality. If you miss the five day period to post your comments, no makeups will be allowed and your score will be recorded as zero, forfeiting 2 points or 2 percent of your grade for each time missed.

To earn these points, your comments should be unique; they should reflect your own and other's expressed thoughts; and your comments should demonstrate your understanding of course concepts.

PLEASE NOTE THESE IMPORTANT POINTS! THESE AFFECT YOUR GRADES.

No points will be awarded for simply commenting on whether you liked the presentation or not, or by providing your thoughts on the presentation graphics or layout alone, without expressing your opinion on the subject matter itself and relating it to course concepts or current events. No points will be awarded if you repeat other students' already-expressed comments without adding your own unique perspective.

To repeat: you will not receive points for discussions if you comment on the presentation style, graphics, audio recordings or anything that is not about the content itself.

You will NOT receive points if you simply play back what was stated in the presentation.

You MUST provide your own insights or research to add to the discussion. Grades are awarded based on your demonstration of your understanding of the topic and how it relates to our coursework.

Students are expected to respectfully and constructively articulate points of view, comments, or critiques that, as stated above, demonstrate your understanding of the cases presented and the key concepts covered in the course.

Comments are due by the end of the week that each case is posted, i.e., on that Friday, by 11:59 PM. You have the opportunity to comment for a period of five days. As above, no comment will be counted if it is submitted after the deadline, with no exceptions. For example, Case 1 will be available for discussion by Monday, September 16, at 12:00 AM. All comments for Case 1 must be submitted between Monday, September 16 and Friday, September 20 at 11:59 PM, or no points will be earned.

About the Materials, Cases and Discussion Assignments

Since this course is asynchronous online, students are expected to keep pace with the reading, videos, and all assignments. Course participation in Discussions requires not just knowledge of the material but also critical and creative thought in applying this knowledge to specific situations. It is also expected that students will stay attuned to current events and introduce such relevant topics into discussions.

**Please make certain to review the detailed descriptions of the content and format of the case study presentations, provided at the end of this syllabus****

Quizzes

There will be three quizzes:

- Quiz 1 (Week 4: Thurs., 9/26 - Sun. 9/29):
Covers Parts 1 & 2: Globalization; National Differences, plus other assigned materials.
- Quiz 2 (Week 7: Thurs., 10/17 - Sun., 10/20):
Covers Part 3: The Global Trade and Investment Environment, plus other assigned materials.

- Quiz 3 (Week 12: Thurs. 11/21 - Sun., 11/24):
Covers Parts 4 & 5: The Strategy of International Business; The Global Monetary System, plus other assigned materials.

Part 6 will be covered in the Final Examination.

Quizzes will consist of 10 questions, worth 0.3 points each, for a total of 3.0 points per quiz. Quizzes will be posted on the Thursday indicated and is available for four full days until that following Sunday at 11:59 PM. You will have 20 minutes to complete each quiz.

Midterm Examination

The Midterm Examination will be a multiple-choice test covering Parts 1, 2, and 3, plus articles, other assigned materials, and cases, as posted in Canvas.

The Midterm Examination will be available during Week 8, from Thursday, October 24 at 12:00 AM, until Sunday, October 27 at 11:59 PM.

The Midterm Examination will consist of 34 questions, worth 0.5 points each, for a total of 17.0 points, or 17% of your final grade. You will have 70 minutes to complete the Midterm Exam. The exam will be open book. You will be allowed to use your own notes plus materials assigned during the course and posted on Canvas.

All NJIT examinations must be proctored. We will use Lockdown Browser, which you should prepare to use well in advance of the examination date.

Final Examination

The Final Examination will be a multiple-choice test covering content after the Midterm Examination: Parts 4, 5, and 6, plus articles, other readings, videos, and cases, as posted in Canvas.

The Final Examination will be available from Sunday, December 15, at 12:00 AM, until Wednesday, December 18 at 11:59 PM.

The Final Examination will consist of 40 questions, worth 0.5 points each, for a total of 20 points, or 20% of your final grade. You will have 80 minutes to complete the Final Exam. The exam will be open book. You will be allowed to use your own notes plus materials assigned during the course and posted on Canvas.

As with the Midterm Examination, LockDown Browser will be used as the proctoring system for the Final Exam. Please read about and prepare to use LockDown Browser at <https://ist.njit.edu/respondus>

Netiquette

Throughout this course, students are expected to be courteous with classmates; you are expected to be respectful, active participants. Students should respond to discussion forum assignments in a timely manner, so classmates have adequate time to respond to that student's post. Respect others' opinions, even those that differ from your own, and avoid using profanity or offensive language.

Assigned Readings and Viewing

It is important that students remain up to date on readings and are prepared to weigh-in during discussions.

I will post, from time-to-time, a few additional articles, videos, reports or studies that are relevant to that week's topic. These materials are mandatory; students are expected to attentively read and watch those materials as part of that week's assignment. These materials will be included in quizzes and examinations.

Students are also strongly encouraged to keep current with news affecting their cases and weekly course subjects.

Exams

This is an asynchronous online course. All quizzes and exams will be taken online only.

Final Grades

Grades reflect the level of understanding of course content. Therefore, to achieve the grade of A or B in this class expect to:

- Be prepared. This means actively participating in discussions, exercises, and activities to further understanding.
- Turn in all course deliverables in a timely and professional manner. With less preparation and participation expect the grade of C or lower.

Grading

Grades are composed of 2 team Case Study presentations (30%), Class Discussion and participation (24%), 3 quizzes (9%), a midterm examination (17%), and a final exam (20%).

Grading follows the NJIT undergraduate grading legend as available here:

<https://www5.njit.edu/registrar/policies/grading.php>

Grades	Significance
A	Superior
B+	Excellent
B	Very Good
C+	Good
C	Acceptable
D	Minimum
F	Inadequate

A: 90.0 to 100%

B+: 85 - 89

B: 80 - 84

C+: 75 -79

C: 70 - 74

D: 60 - 69

F: Below 60%

Additional information about the Grading Policy can be found at this link:

<https://www.njit.edu/registrar/policies/grading.php>

Grading Categories	Points	Total/ %
Case Study Presentations	15 points each x 2 per team	30 points/ 30%
Discussions	2 x 2 points = 4 points each presentation week, x 6 cases	24 points/ 24%
Quizzes	3 points each x 3	9 points/ 9%
Midterm	17 points	17 points/ 17%
Final	20 points	20 points/ 20%
Total	100	100 points/ 100%

Late Assignment Policy

Late assignments will not be accepted for grading unless there is a severe illness or an emergency. In these cases, legitimate documentation of the emergency must be presented and approved by the office of the Dean of Students before extensions will be granted.

Quizzes

Quizzes are timed and available for the designated four-day period only. Students are responsible for completing each quiz within that designated available period of time (Thursday at 12:00 AM through Sunday at 11:59 PM). There will be no opportunity to make up a quiz once it has closed.

Case Study Discussions

If no comment is submitted within the specified timeframe, 0 (zero) points will be awarded, for each occurrence, up to and not exceeding 24 points or 24% of your total grade, during the full course.

PLEASE NOTE THIS: these are important points available to you that if forfeited may significantly affect your course grade.

Midterm and Final Examinations

As with quizzes, the Midterm and Final Examinations are timed tests, available for four full days only, during the designated period. Students are responsible for completing each examination within the designated available period of time. There will be no opportunity to make up an exam once it has closed. Students will not be able to review Midterm Examination answers if they have not taken the exam during the available time period.

Office Hours

If a student has questions and wishes to meet with me, please attend the weekly Zoom meeting, open to all course students, on Wednesdays from 4:30 - 5:00 PM, or e-mail me for an appointment.

There is no teaching assistant for the course. Case study team presenters should contact me if they have problems posting their PowerPoint presentations on Canvas within their Discussion assignment.

Course Policies

It is the student's responsibility to read and view all posted materials and to review the course Canvas site frequently in order to keep up to date with materials, quizzes, discussions, and examinations.

Email and Conversational Liability

Neither NJIT nor the instructor can be held responsible for the content of any personal messages sent from one student to another using the online email system. It is expected that all students will adhere to accepted codes of ethical, personal, and civil conduct when conversing online or using email. Failure to abide with NJIT's Code of Conduct may result in expulsion from the course with a failing grade. Consult the official university code of student conduct for further information.

Students are expected to comply with the University Honor Code

Academic Integrity

Learning is both an individual and a cooperative experience. Asking for and giving help freely in appropriate settings helps you learn. However, you should present only YOUR work as your own. University rules and standards define and prohibit "academic misconduct" by all members of the academic community including students. You are asked and expected to be familiar with these standards and abide by them.

Academic Integrity is the cornerstone of higher education and is central to the ideals of this course and the university. Cheating is strictly prohibited and devalues the degree that you are working on. As a member of the NJIT community, it is your responsibility to protect your educational investment by knowing and following the academic code of integrity policy that is found at: <http://www5.njit.edu/policies/sites/policies/files/academic-integrity-code.pdf>.

Please note that it is my professional obligation and responsibility to report any academic misconduct to the Dean of Students Office. Any student found in violation of the code by cheating, plagiarizing or using any online software inappropriately will result in disciplinary action. This may include a failing grade of F, and/or suspension or dismissal from the university. If you have any questions about the code of Academic Integrity, please contact the Dean of Students Office at dos@njit.edu

Student with Disabilities Codes

NJIT adheres to section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act (ADA) of 1990. Appropriate accommodations are provided at no cost to the student. If you have any questions or would like additional information, please contact Dr. Phyllis Bolling, Center for Counseling and Psychological Services (C-CAPS), Campbell Hall, (entry level), room 205, (973) 596-3420. For further information visit the Disability Support Services website. (<http://www.njit.edu/studentssuccess/disability-support-services-0/>)

Classroom Policies

I will submit your assignments to Turnitin to check for plagiarism.

Final Comments

I reserve the right to change any aspect of this syllabus or the course schedule at any time, as the need arises. Students registered for this course assume full responsibility for reading and understanding the course policies as stated above.

Please check the course Canvas site each week for reading and other required materials that may be added.

You have been recruited to join a task force to assess what to do about your current business dealings in Russia. You are to present your findings and recommendations to the CEO and the board of directors.

		(You must choose a company/brand, real or imagined, and create this presentation as if you are senior executives on that brand's senior executive task force.) Your team must develop a presentation that summarizes your findings, business impact, and recommends actions to the company's CEO, their executive team, and the board of directors, regarding the ethical and financial impact – as well as the effect on your brand's reputation and customer sentiment --that comes with doing business in Russia. Make sure to thoroughly read the article above. Address the business and ethical issues in each position: Team 3: (End Operations) Make the case to end all operations in Russia. Describe the impact as outlined above, why ceasing is necessary, and how this will occur, including timing and financial repercussions for the company. Team 4: (Continue Operations) Make the case to continue doing business with Russia, and why you are taking this position for the sake of the business and brand, despite so many companies choosing to end their operations there. DUE: Sunday, September 22 at 11:59 PM
Week 6 Case 3 October 7	Team 5 Team 6	(Chapter 6: International Trade Theory; Chapter 7: Government Policy and International Trade) Case 3: Sanctions on China's top cotton supplier (DUE: Sunday, October 6 at 11:59 PM) Dou, E. "Sanctions on China's top cotton supplier weave a tangled web for fashion brands." Washington Post, August 22, 2020 Assignment: You work for a global fashion brand. Your board of directors is concerned about human rights issues associated with the region where a significant portion of your cotton is sourced. Your team must develop a presentation that recommends actions to the company's board and executive team regarding the supply of cotton that you currently source from China's Xinjiang region. Describe the potential impact on your business results, and on brand reputation. Address the ethical issues in each position, whether you decide to keep supplies as is, or change them. Team 5: Make the case for an immediate change to alternate sources of cotton, and why this is necessary. Team 6: Make the case against an immediate change in sourcing cotton from Xinjiang, and why you are taking this position for the sake of the business and brand. DUE: Sunday, October 6 at 11:59 PM
Week 7 Case 4	Team 7 Team 8	(Chapter 8: Foreign Direct Investment; Chapter 9: Regional Economic Integration) Case 4: The Case for or Against Foreign Direct Investment in Hungary Page 27 in text e-book, or Part 2, page 41 https://www.nytimes.com/2022/08/20/world/europe/viktor-orban-hungary-economy.html?unlocked_article_code=1.Fk4.rDgl.tUEd9SZtRtSo&amp;smid=url-share

		Assignment: Your financial services company is considering Foreign Direct Investment in Hungary, as a member of the EU and NATO. However, Viktor Orban, the country's prime minister, has moved the country away from democratic policies and values, and now faces economic challenges. Your team has been asked to study and evaluate the pros and cons of such an investment and report back to your senior executive team (using the prescribed case study presentation format!). Make sure that you conduct your own additional research to make your case, beyond the information provided or linked here. Team 7: PRO -- You have decided that FDI in Hungary is the right choice for your company. Explain how you arrived at this decision, what your recommendations are, and how you support these recommendations. Team 8: CON -- Your team has concluded that your company should not go forward with FDI in Hungary. Describe what you have uncovered, your recommendations, and the information you're using to support these recommendations. DUE: Sunday, October 14 at 11:59 PM
Round 2
Week 9 Case 5 October 28	Team 1 Team 3	(Chapter 13: Entering Developed and Emerging Markets) Case 5: "Netflix Goes to Bollywood": The Case for Netflix Success in India Sull, D. and Turconi, S. (January 30, 2021) "Netflix Goes to Bollywood". MIT Management Sloan School, (21-201). DUE: Sunday, October 27 at 11:59 PM See PDF: "Netflix Goes to Bollywood" Assignment: You are a team within Netflix that has been given the task to decide how to successfully expand within India. You must consider Netflix's company culture and history of success as you put together your set of recommendations for India. Your recommendations will be presented to the CEO, the leadership team, and the Board of Directors. It is critically important that you choose the approach that is not only best for Netflix, but best for the audience in India that you choose to address -- and explain why. Therein lies the challenge of this case study. As stated in the closing paragraph of the case from the MIT Management Sloan School paper, "Netflix Goes to Bollywood" (p. 14): "Attracting 100 million subscribers in India raised fundamental strategic questions for Netflix. Which elements of its strategy should Netflix stick to and which should it be willing to change to grow in India?" For this case study, it will be up to each team, Team 1 and Team 3, to select the approach they think is best for Netflix's plans for expansion in India. These are informed choices you will make after reviewing the content of this paper and from additional research you may gather. As always, your findings and recommendations should make sense as a whole; your recommendations should support your strategy; and all of this should be delineated within your presentation. Once your team chooses its strategy for expansion in India, please consider these issues, as listed from the MIT paper, and provide within your presentation an explanation of your reasoning. Use this list from the paper as guidance:

		<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Should Netflix reconsider its premium pricing approach in the country to attract cost-conscious consumers?</li> <li>2. In a market where most competitors relied on some form of advertising to drive profitability, should Netflix re-examine its pledge to stay ad-free?</li> <li>3. Netflix had not broadcast live sports or user-generated content in the past, but the company could potentially revisit those choices to attract viewers in the Indian market.</li> <li>4. Should Netflix continue to operate in the Indian market alone, as it had in all other countries, or work with a local partner?</li> <li>5. Historically Netflix had avoided large acquisitions but buying or merging with a local player might accelerate its growth in the Indian market. Was it worth the risk?</li> <li>6. Should Netflix allow leaders of the Indian business to make these choices locally, which would be in line with the company's culture of decentralized decision making?</li> <li>7. Choices that make sense for the Indian market, however, might undermine the company's overall global strategy.</li> <li>8. As Netflix leaders grappled with these questions, the competitive landscape continued to evolve, and one overarching question loomed large: Could Netflix become Bollywood faster than Bollywood could become Netflix?</li> </ol> Make sure to do your research! This is a wealth of information available about Netflix in India that is recent and highly relevant to your case. Also – make sure to describe which strategy of international business you are using, as per our text. DUE: Sunday, October 27 at 11:59 PM
Week 10 Case 6 November 4	Team 4 Team 5	(Chapter 14: Exporting, Importing, and Countertrade) Case 6: "Higher Education Exporting and International Competitiveness" DUE: Sunday, November 3 at 11:59 PM Hill, Charles W.L., "Higher Education Exporting and International Competitiveness". International Business: Competing in the Global Marketplace, 13e. It is your job to state a case that conveys the importance of higher education exporting to U.S. policy makers, who either may not be aware of its importance, or, simply, may not be that interested in this area. Please create your presentation as councilmembers trying to convince lawmakers of the importance of higher education as important to US exports, competitive strategy, and as a revenue source. Make sure you address the key issues that will make a strong case in support of higher education exporting, including higher education's impact on US jobs, global competitiveness, and the economy overall. Be sure that your recommendations: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Are convincing to policy makers, and</li> <li>2. You and your team are considering adopting blockchain technology for your global company, for all of the reasons detailed in the article included for this case study, attached, as well as in what you discover in your own research:  "Blockchains make it possible for ecosystems of supply chain partners (or any business partners) to share and agree upon key pieces of information." Your presentation should be tailored for the CEO, CFO, CMO, CSO, CPO, and COO of your company, all of whom have a vested interest and a say in this matter. Team 2: PRO  You have decided to recommend adopting blockchain technology for your global company's supply chain. Discuss the pros and cons of this decision, especially the costs and complexities of investing in and implementing blockchain technology. As always, support your recommendations with supporting, detailed statements. Team 7: CON  You have decided to recommend against adopting blockchain technology for your global supply chain. Discuss the pros and cons of blockchain, its costs and complexities, and why you think your company is better off without using this compelling technology for your global operations and SCM. Make sure your recommendations address how your global company and SCM will continue to thrive with current solutions. DUE: Sunday, November 17 at 11:59 PM
Week 14   Case 8  December  2	Team 6  Team 8	(Chapter 16: Global Marketing and Business Analytics) Case 8: "Red Bull" Hill, Charles W.L., "Red Bull". International Business: Competing in the Global Marketplace, 14e. As a private company, Red Bull has adopted a unique business model and marketing strategy to grow and maintain its dominant market share. Red Bull has invested in building the brand to appeal to a broad but well-defined segment of the market. What's more, the company has never hesitated to invest significant amounts in extreme sports, sports teams, sponsoring athletes, and more. All of this is very interesting targeting considering the idea for Red Bull's global expansion came from one of the founders discovering the drink as an antidote for his jet lag after a long flight! Sports was not part of the positioning. Now, some of the major players in the food and beverage world are threatening to make a run at Red Bull again, possibly affecting Red Bull's market share and profitability. It is not known for certain, but these large companies may target a possible weakness: Red Bull's high sugar and high caffeine content are not exactly the healthiest ingredients. Should Red Bull change its strategy or its product? Assignment: Teams 6 and 8: You are the Chief Marketing Officer(s) and the leadership teams for global marketing for Red Bull. You are faced with the above situation. You must present to the

		two founders of the company your research, insights, and data-backed and well-reasoned rationale for your decisions and recommendations. Remember: You are presenting to the founders. They know the brand but want to hear your unique perspective on what to do next. You must bring a recommendation, as a member of the executive leadership team, so your focus must go beyond branding and marketing programs and extend to the larger context of Red Bull's business overall. How will you continue to win against competition, identify growth opportunities, and solidify the company's brand positioning? In addition to the information in this case and the video provided, investigate existing, recent articles and research to describe the most up-to-date information available about Red Bull's performance. Make sure your recommendations are addressed to the founders as if you were a member of the executive team. These must come across as your team's recommended actions for maintaining revenue and market share growth, and for protecting the Red Bull brand – and the entire business -- itself. DUE: Sunday, December 1 at 11:59 PM

IMPORTANT: THIS IS A MANDATORY BUSINESS FORMAT YOU MUST FOLLOW FOR ALL PRESENTATIONS.

Cases must be written in this business style and posted in Canvas

All team cases are due on Sunday at 11:59 PM before general availability for the class on Monday, per the schedule. Case Study Presentations must be posted in TWO sections: your team's Case Study Assignment, and in your team's discussion section, so all students can see and comment on it. All cases should use PowerPoint or presentation slides, with a recorded voice over or presenter window. Please structure your presentation so each team member's contribution to this presentation is clearly shown, as much as this is possible. Team collaboration and roles should also be evident within the related discussion forum.

Format

Compose concise sections and statements. Employ bullet points; telegraphic style is acceptable.

Each team must follow and use all sections of this common business presentation format:

1. Agenda – table of contents in briefest possible description
2. Executive Summary – In one page, describe the essence of the problem, findings, recommendations and next steps. Include all these elements in this page. Imagine you are writing this for a senior-level executive who only has time to read this one page of the presentation. Everything you want them to know about what follows in the full presentation should be here, in the most concise form. Additionally, you are revealing, upfront, your recommendations. What follows in the body of the presentation show logically state your case with research, supporting evidence, recommended actions, and support for these actions. Please make certain that this Executive Summary page and the rest of the presentation are in synchronization.
3. Purpose
What is the “trigger” for this case? What problem, challenge, issue triggered the need for this presentation (in brief form)?
4. Situation Analysis

Appraise the current state and discuss the set of important facts regarding the issue you're investigating. Select the key issues that are important for the reader/decision maker to know about as background. Cite data, research, and all sources (as provided in the case, and seek more, if you choose).

5. Findings

Describe what you have discovered based on your investigation. Express the key insights you have assembled. This requires analytical thought, synthesis of different data, and logical, concise, and persuasive statements.

6. Recommendations and Support

Centered on your findings, describe your short list of actions. Support your recommendations with research or data, and analysis, tying this back to what you have selected in your findings and what we have covered in the course.

7. Summary

Construct your recommendations into one closing thought. This must be the essence of what you want the reader to recall from your presentation: Answer this for the reader: this is what should they walk away with, so they know how and why to support your recommendations for approval and funding.

If you believe further actions are required, such as additional research and investments, specify this here.

Please read and follow the above carefully. In addition to other criteria cited in this syllabus for these presentations, the grade you receive for your Case Study Presentation will reflect how well you follow this specific set of instructions.

Good luck with your presentations!

NOTES: How to Succeed in This Course

This is to provide even more focus on what will help you earn 15 points for your presentations and 2 points for your discussion contributions.

Please make certain to revisit and pay careful attention to the criteria and requirements outlined in these sections in the syllabus:

- Case Studies
- Class Discussion
- Case Study Presentations: Presentation Schedule and Team Assignments
- Cases must be written in business style

Here are some additional pointers:

1. Make certain to follow the direction and spirit of each assignment. If you are asked to role play, e.g., as a company presenting to an executive team, then please make sure your presentation is written that way. Please do not risk losing points by disregarding this requirement.
2. As above, be clear about to whom you are presenting: to an executive team? The CEO?
3. Do your own research! What I provide for the case description is only a starting point. You must conduct your own research and build out your case with thorough, up-to-date information.
4. Do not forget to apply course concepts. I have aligned the cases with readings. Please apply and convey what is assigned in the textbook and in my lectures to your cases, and to your discussion comments.

5. Please watch your spelling and grammar. In a professional setting these errors affect your credibility, especially in a senior-level executive setting.
6. Follow the prescribed format. Pay special attention to the requirements for each section, especially the Executive Summary and the Recommendations pages, as they are specifically defined.
7. Make sure your presentations work as a complete, end-to-end piece of work. It is evident when teams have not "tested" this logical flow themselves before submitting their presentations.
8. Use citations and sources. See point 3.
9. Case Study Presentation Teams: actively engage in the discussions, please! Comment or respond to your colleagues' observations. This participation is worth points toward your final presentation grade.
10. Discussions: some discussion comments in past classes have veered toward whether a student liked the presentation or not, or their thoughts about the layout or graphics. If this is all that you comment on, you will not earn points and receive a zero (0) for the discussion (see page 4 in the syllabus).

Please keep in mind that "your comments should be unique; they should reflect your own and other's expressed thoughts; and your comments should demonstrate your understanding of course concepts." I will be focused and will grade your comments based on this last point.

11. Discussion comments are not texts. They are to be treated as if this was a business discussion within a business presentation environment. Please employ proper spelling, grammar, and complete sentences. There have been some terrific comments and observations made by previous classes and I expect the same with this class! It is great to see some excellent, additional research added! Please keep this momentum going!

I write this to help you learn and earn the best possible grade in this course. I want to make sure everyone follows the specific directions necessary to earn the highest grade for each assignment and for the course, overall!

Best of luck!
